SUSTAINABILITY AND ENVIRONMENTAL CERTIFICATIONS

Objective: Certification and verification of the chain of custody ensure that the raw materials used in high-pressure decorative laminates (HPL) are responsibly sourced from certified forests, manufactured under controlled management systems, and comply with international environmental, quality, and occupational safety standards.

Validation: Certifications are issued by internationally accredited certification bodies following independent third-party audits in accordance with ISO management system standards and globally recognized forest certification schemes, including FSC®, PEFC™ and Green Label environmental standards.

Results: Rushil Decor Limited maintains valid ISO management system certifications and Chain of Custody systems certified under FSC® and PEFC™, along with the Environmental Green Label certification, confirming compliance with international requirements for sustainability, quality and environmental responsibility.

1. FSC® Chain of Custody Certification
